

ABSTRACT

DIGITAL IMAGE PROCESSING

“Python-based digital image processing labs offer a practical learning experience where students apply theoretical knowledge. Using Python and its libraries, students develop programming skills, understand algorithms, and explore interdisciplinary applications. These labs enhance problem-solving abilities, prepare students for image processing-centric industries, and encourage collaboration in the open-source community. In essence, they provide an efficient and real-world-oriented educational approach”